

State Legislators Start Fourth Week; Budget Bills Left

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature goes into the fourth week of its 1954 session tonight with still no major issues to flurry the lawmakers.

The House and Senate return at 8 p. m., after a weekend recess.

Members already were declaring privately that they could quit now and go home — instead of April 9 — if they had the budget bills to act on.

Welfare Fund First

A revived proposal for a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's 1906 constitution is out on the House floor for debate tonight. If it should slip past the disinterested chamber there are indications it will die in the Senate Judiciary Committee, which already

Boy, 12, Is Lone Plane Lookout

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—An alert 12-year-old boy, watching the cold, empty winter sky apparently is Western Michigan's only lookout for enemy bombers.

He was the only watcher on the job in the local Civil Defense network of observer posts, the Grand Rapids Herald reported Sunday. It found the 12-year-old at his post in a spot check last Monday afternoon.

His was the only observer post operating out of 22 in the area.

Capt. Robert J. Tawney, head of the Grand Rapids filter center where the plane watch is charted and organized, said the situation is "very bad" in the area.

Tawney said people volunteer to work in the headquarters filter center, but he said the area has a poor record on ground observers who work on the outside.

In its spot check, the Herald reported this situation:

The Grand Rapids observer post has not been in operation since last September. It is equipped with one electric light and the attic entrance is frozen shut.

Holland's other ground observer post is a service station with a lone attendant, who said he had little time to watch for planes.

The Grand Haven observer post has not been manned all winter. There is no plane watch at the Grand Haven lifesaving station.

Hot High Winds Hit San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Hot, high wind pushed the thermometer to a record 88 in San Diego Sunday in a gusty blow that toppled scores of trees—one on the home of tennis coach Maureen Connolly.

There was also a light earthquake.

The tree damaged the roof of the Connolly home. Miss Connolly was away playing tennis.

Other objects tossed about by the gusts included television antennae, street signs, a chicken house and an automobile that was rolled from its parking place over a 30-foot embankment.

City lifeguards estimated 10,000 people at beaches.

Los Angeles also had a record 88-degree temperature.

Lawyers Comb Lost Documents For Spy Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell says Justice Department lawyers are combing through "20,000 lost documents"—one of which has already led to the explosive Harry Dexter White case—for possible follow-ups against other persons named in them.

When the Republicans came to power last year, Brownell told CBS television interviewers Sunday, they found a lot of papers in the Justice Department that had never been properly recorded or studied "but had just been tossed in the desk drawer."

Other Cases Revealed

Because of one housecleaning order "20,000 lost documents were turned up," Brownell said, and "some of them were of extreme importance" including the now-famous 1945 FBI report on Soviet spying in the United States.

The 1945 report was one of two FBI documents naming the late Harry Dexter White, onetime treasury official who was promoted to the International Monetary Fund. Brownell set off a row in a speech last Nov. 6 when he said former President Truman promoted White in early 1946 in face of FBI information that White was under investigation as a spy.

Brownell said Sunday the other "lost documents" included cases comparable to that of White in importance.

Shipboard Work

The documents "mentioned many names whose cases should have been followed up by the Department of Justice but it never got

Six Shipping Firms Named In Plot To Defraud Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today announced the indictment of nine individuals and six corporations on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in multi-million dollar deals in surplus ships after World War II.

Among those indicted are Joseph E. Casey, former Democratic member of the House from Massachusetts.

Casey allegedly headed a group a Senate committee charged made fantastic profits in postwar tanker deals.

Top Man Surrenders

Another of those indicted was Aristoteles S. Onassis, world power in the shipping trade.

The indictment was returned by a District of Columbia federal grand jury last Oct. 13, but was kept sealed by court order pending the surrender of Onassis.

Onassis, native of Greece and now a citizen of Argentina, presented himself in the Federal District Court here today and, after the indictment was opened, entered a plea of innocent.

Chief Judge Bolitha Laws authorized his release of $10,000 bond, but stipulated that he could not leave the country while the charges are pending against him.

False Statements Charged

The wealthy Onassis arrived in the United States last week. He has shipbuilding and ship operations scattered throughout the world.

In addition to Casey and Onassis, the indictment named Joseph H. Rosenbaum and Robert W. Dudley, Washington, D. C., lawyers; Robert L. Berenson, now living in Paris; Nicholas Cokkinis, Charles Augenthaler and Harold O. Becker, all of New York City; and George Cokkinis, reported to be abroad.

Towns In Missouri And Kansas Run Dry

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Many communities in Missouri and Kansas, the states wracked only three years ago by devastating floods, are faced with a very different crisis today; they're drying up.

A merciless drought that lasted through the summer still shows no sign of abating. It's no longer just the preoccupation of worried farmers, but has moved, quietly, into the cities and towns.

Dr. Warren A. Kramer, chief of water supplies for the Missouri Health Division, said many towns already have reached the crisis stage, and there's no immediate relief in sight.

No Rain In Sight

For Kansas, too, the outlook is grim. A. D. Robb of the U.S. Weather Bureau in Topeka, Kan., described the general situation as "serious," explaining: "Good, general rains would be the only solution. But our long-range forecast doesn't indicate them."

Water for car washing and other nonessential use has been banned in some areas.

In Paola, Kan., pastors are offering prayers for rain at Sunday services. Daily prayers for rain are being said at Ursuline College.

Big 1,000-gallon water trucks are hauling supplies to farm lands and thirsty cities throughout northern and central Missouri and eastern Kansas.

Few Dead In Quake

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Fears of a heavy death toll in the earthquake-shattered region of Chiapas state in southern Mexico, diminished today as new reports trickled in from the remote mountain region. But 5,000 families were believed homeless following the severe shock Friday.

Fortune Discovered In Cluttered Flat Of Detroit Woman, 86

DETROIT (AP)—A fortune in cash and securities—more than a half million dollars—has been found in the cluttered flat home of 86-year-old Mrs. Carrie Wherritt.

Widowed Mrs. Wherritt, a rag-wearing recluse, was disclosed in a police search Sunday to be wealthy woman instead of the nearly impoverished person as neighbors knew her.

Mrs. Wherritt, beaten by burglars who tried to ransack her place last week, was in serious condition at Receiving Hospital today.

Police said Mrs. Wherritt escaped the beating with her life only because the burglars evidently didn't know of her wealth.

In a safe in her flat police found $291,800 in cash. They said there was at least that much or more in securities.

Republicans See Success For Eisenhower Program

Campaign Issues May Change By Election Time

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—If events, like a horse, could be made to stand still, the Democrats and Republicans already would have their main issues for the 1954 congressional election in November.

The Democrats are hammering on the downturn in business which has occurred under the Eisenhower administration.

And the Republicans are working overtime on the subject of Communists - in-government under the Democrats.

Depends On Results

By election time, business conditions may have leveled off, as administration economists say they will. If they don't, the Democrats will have a talking point probably overshadowing everything else.

And the issue of Communists-in-government may be pushed into the background by other developments before then.

For instance, by November Congress will have finished this year's work on Eisenhower's program, which affects practically everyone; taxes, social security, unions, business, tariffs.

The President himself has said that if his party doesn't put over a progressive program it doesn't deserve to win. The congressional score on his program will provide plenty of election issues.

But at this time, before Congress even begins to act on most of the program, Communists - in-government and the economic reverse have given the politicians on both sides something to talk about.

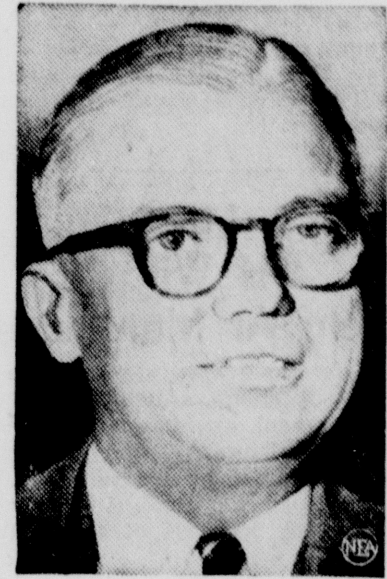

Old Depression Theme

For 20 years, beginning in the 1932 campaign, the Democrats banged away at the fact that the big depression began under the Republicans, which may explain one reason for their hitting so hard on the downturn now.

When some Republicans reacted with the charge that talk of a recession is unethical and almost un-American, it may have been an indication that recession talk was getting under their skin.

And although Eisenhower himself said, when asked about this, that everyone is entitled to his own opinion, he, too, denounced the "prophecy of gloom and doom."

That the Republicans are meeting recession talk head on so fast can be considered both a mark of their aggressiveness and a sign that this is going to be a rough political year.

DISCHARGE INVESTIGATED — Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens will make a personal investigation concerning the honorable discharge given Maj. Irving Peress. The Army officer had refused to answer Senator McCarthy's questions at a session of the Permanent Investigating Committee. McCarthy claims the Army should have court-martialed the former officer.

Ludington Pays Tribute To Hero

LUDINGTON (AP)—The grateful citizenry of Ludington has placed a bank account at the disposal of William R. Charette, who earned the Medal of Honor for heroism under fire during the Korean fighting.

The 22-year-old Navy hospital corpsman was guest of honor Saturday at a special homecoming celebration.

Ludington's population made it a gala celebration including a parade, four bands and, as a climax, the presentation of the bank account which was described as a "substantial sum" with no strings attached concerning its use.

The young hero was moved to tears during the ceremonies as he thanked townsmen who jammed Ludington High School's Oriole Hall.

Mayor Dan R. Rathbun presented Charette with the bank book and said:

"Anything done is minute compensation for your action."

Charette indicated he would use the fund to complete his education, possibly to become a doctor, when he completes his four-year Navy hitch next year.

Allotment Measure Puts Potatoes Back On School Lunches

WASHINGTON (AP)—Potatoes once again are qualified for the government's school lunch program under an amendment to the cotton and wheat acreage allotments bill just signed by President Eisenhower.

When Congress in 1950 took price supports away from potatoes, its action also was construed to mean that potatoes wouldn't be eligible for the lunch program.

The Senate held that this was not intended and when the acreage allotments bill came up, Sen. Welker (R-Idaho) added an amendment to put potatoes back into the school lunch and similar programs carried out from tariff collections on imports.

Bush Pilots Save 6 In Alaskan Air Crash

CURRY, Alaska (AP)—Two veteran Alaska bush pilots were credited today with saving the lives of six men tangled in the snow-covered mountain wilderness near here Friday when the plane in which they were riding exploded.

Two other of the 16 men aboard the Air Force C47 when it left Elmendorf Air Force Base near Anchorage on the ill-fated flight were known dead.

Eight were missing and bush pilot Cliff Hudson who with Don Sheldon was credited with effecting the rescue of the six survivors, said there was little chance any of the others were alive.

The Air Force said Hudson and Sheldon saved the lives of the six who spent two nights and most of two days in subfreezing temperatures awaiting rescue after the wrecked two-engine transport was sighted.

Hudson spotted the wreckage late Friday. The following day Sheldon located the first three survivors huddled in the snow 15 miles from the wreckage where they had floated down in their "chutes."

Sheldon, Hudson and an Air Force doctor flew to the spot in a blinding snowstorm Saturday. They were grounded overnight when the weather worsened.

Hudson struck off then on the arduous trek through 3½-foot snow to reach the crash scene. Sheldon, meanwhile, flew his trio of survivors Sunday to Anchorage, 75 miles southwest of here. The others were picked up by helicopter.

Leaders Of GOP Expect To Gain Congress Seats

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP Senate leader, said today the prospects for enactment of a substantial portion of President Eisenhower's legislative program are looking better all the time.

"I think that when Congress has completed its work, we will have a program that will meet the approval of the country," Knowland said in an interview.

Party Given Lift

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, on an NBC television program Sunday, expressed similar optimism about the prospects not only for the legislative program but for the Republicans' chances of picking up more congressional seats in the November elections.

He said Eisenhower's leadership has given the party a tremendous lift and he expects a gain of 15 to 25 seats, after a campaign based on the President's "record of achievement."

He told interviewers he considers Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) an asset to the Republican party nationally who "will and should" receive support by the entire party on the basis of his 1952 election by Wisconsin voters.

Asked whether the National Committee endorsed McCarthy's description of the Democratic party as "the party of betrayal," Hall noted the committee pays the expenses of McCarthy's speaking tours, as it does those of others.

He said, "If that is an endorsement, yes."

He said he expects communism to be an underlying issue in the 1954 elections.

He said he thinks when the time comes for Eisenhower to consider seeking a second term "there'll be a demand which he cannot escape."

Senators Check On $1 Coffee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators moved on two fronts today in response to clamor over recent sharp increases in coffee prices.

Five leaders of the coffee trade in New York City were asked to testify before a Senate Banking subcommittee headed by Sen. Beall (R-Md.). It is seeking to learn whether speculation played a part in price jumps to more than $1 a pound.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) asked quick passage of a bill that would impose government supervision of trading and speculation in coffee.

Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said in an interview the bill likely would go through on a calendar call, a procedure by which the Senate passes bills without debate unless there is objection.

The legislation would require the Commodity Exchange Authority, an Agriculture Department agency, to monitor trading in coffee futures contracts.

Spokesmen for coffee producers in Latin-American nations have said a poor crop and the operation of supply and demand caused the price jumps. They have called for action to counter any consumer boycotts of coffee.

Beall said his special coffee probe aims at fostering friendly relations with coffee-producing nations.

Author Bodenheim And Wife Murdered In Cheap New York Room

NEW YORK (AP)—Maxwell Bodenheim, sensational writer of the 1920s who in his later days sometimes had to beg to eat, was found slain Sunday with his third wife.

The 63-year-old Bodenheim was discovered with the woman in a cheap furnished room where drink and poverty had sent him after a spectacular and controversial career in the 1920s and 1930s as a writer of poetry and harsh fiction.

Suspect Identified

Police today issued a 13-state broadcast for Harold Weinberg, alias Joseph Greenburg, and warned that he "may be armed."

Chief of Detectives Thomas A. Nielson told newsmen Sunday night that "this is definitely not a robbery murder."

No other motive was indicated.

The room in which police found the bodies of Bodenheim and the woman, identified as Ruth Fagan, 35, had been rented three weeks ago in Weinberg's name.

The police alarm for Weinberg noted he had a scar under the chin and said he was "a fast talker."

Bodenheim was shot in the chest. The woman was stabbed, and beaten almost beyond recognition. Both were fully clothed when found after the rooming house proprietor saved off the padlock which had been placed on their room door from the outside.

Critic Of Civilization

The slaying climaxed Bodenheim's up-and-down career. He last made headlines two years ago when arrested for sleeping in a subway. Bleary-eyed and broke, he spent the night in jail.

In the 1920s he was a prominent figure in the literary world of Chicago and Greenwich Village.

He and author Ben Hecht helped to found the Chicago Literary Times, an irreverent chronicle of Chicago before the depression. The two also were members of Chicago's old cultural mecca, the Dill Pickle Club.

Others who frequented the Dill Pickle included playwright Charles MacArthur, Sherwood Anderson and others.

Bodenheim, born in Hermanville, Miss., had no formal education. He became a bitter critic of American civilization.

His novel "Replenishing Jessica" caused a sensation in 1925. Later it resulted in charges against the author for publishing an indecent work, but he was acquitted on grounds that he had received no royalties from the book's sale.

Among the novels he considered his best were "Blackguard," "Crazy Man," "Georgia May" and "Sixty Seconds." His verse included "Minna and Myself."

His peak was in the 1920s. By 1935 he was broke and on relief, at Bellevue Hospital he was diagnosed as an acute alcoholic.

Wife From Michigan

He was first married in 1918 to Minna Schein, the inspiration for "Minna and Myself." They were divorced in 1938, and a year later he married Grace Fawcett Finan, a widow. She died about three years ago.

Acquaintances of Bodenheim and the Fagan woman said she became

Short Court Term Expected

Guilty pleas entered in three of the six criminal cases up for trial in the current term of circuit court, deferment of another plea until the defendant has consulted his attorney and continuance of the other case, this morning slowed down prospects of a long drawn out session. Eighteen cases were passed or settled.

Pleas of guilty were entered by Neil Erick Harju, charged with gross indecency; Donald Lee Campbell, alias Donald Lee Campbell, 17, charged with forgery and John Dugener Jr., charged with carrying concealed weapons. He asked that an attorney be appointed by the court to defend him.

Judge Edward H. Fenlon, of Petoskey, who is presiding over this session, after informing each defendant of his rights before the court accepted the guilty pleas and remanded the defendants for detention while he looks up the circumstances surrounding the cases and will pronounce judgment later on during the term.

The case of Michigan vs. Houston Howard Graham, an appeal from justice court, was continued to the next term of court. The case involves a charge of carrying over-weight loads on trucks.

Gerald Hilling, who is appealing a reckless driving charge from justice court, will stand trial.

Jury Cases Dwindle
Civil cases remaining on the docket for jury trial in this term are:

John O. Erickson vs. Narcis and Willard Thibault, trespass on case.

First National Bank of Escanaba vs. Herbert and Lila LaCrosse, assumpt.

Kenneth Lawson vs. Milton Nordin, appeal from justice court.

Three cases, Lena Farley, Peter J. Farley and Ralph H. Longworth, each plaintiffs, separately, against Montgomery Ward and Company, have been settled out of court.

Many Non-Jury Cases Passed

Edward G. and Louise Miller vs. Hiawatha Plywood Co., Harry O. George F. and H. P. Bourke, trespass on the case, is the only one of the non-jury cases previously listed to come up for hearing.

Chief among the chancery cases to be heard will be "In the matter of the petition of the auditor general of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said state, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed for the year 1951 and previous years." The matter is set for hearing Wednesday morning. A number of divorce hearings are also docketed for the present term. Jurors drawn for the current term have been asked to appear for service Wednesday morning at 9.

One Man Burned, Logging Camp Damaged By Flames

Explosion and fire early Sunday morning severely burned one man and destroyed two buildings at a logging camp west of Highway M-35 about 17 miles south of Escanaba.

Henry Lanaville, 29, brother of the owner of the camp, suffered burns on his face and on both hands. His condition was described as "fair" today in St. Francis Hospital.

Two buildings of the logging camp owned by John Lanaville and most of their contents were destroyed in the fire. The loss was estimated at $5,000.

Fuel Drum Empty

Herman Palmgren, chief of the Bark River fire department, said the fire apparently was the result of an explosion of an oil heater in a small building in which Henry Lanaville lived.

Chief Palmgren said that John Lanaville told him that the oil heater in his brothers living quarters went out Saturday afternoon. The fuel drum was empty.

Henry was away from the camp Saturday evening and apparently came home late. John told the Bark River fire chief that his brother apparently had taken gasoline by mistake in obtaining fuel for the stove, and the explosion followed.

Explosion And Fire

Residents of the camp, located three miles west of M-35 and about 17 miles south of Escanaba, were awakened about 6 a. m. Sunday by the explosion and the sound of Henry Lanaville's screams.

Henry, who lived alone in a small building adjacent to the large main camp, escaped from the flaming building by throwing a blanket from the bed over his head and running out through the door. The injured man was rushed to the hospital in a car driven by Mrs. John Lanaville.

An excited telephone call over a noisy party line to the Bark River fire department resulted in confusion that sent the firemen to the wrong location. They found the fire only after an hour's search.

Workman In Peril

Two camp buildings were beyond saving when firemen arrived, but they extinguished the blaze in the gables of the barn. Logging equipment, including a power saw, was lost in the blaze, but a tractor was saved.

Residing at the camp were Mr. and Mrs. John Lanaville and their two children. Henry Lanaville, and a crew of about six men. Among the workmen was Emanuel Roucheau, whose life was endangered by flames before he escaped from the large camp building.

Fire Chief Palmgren emphasized that persons reporting fire should be prepared to give the correct location, so that no time will be lost in answering the call. The Bark River pumper and eight firemen might have been able to save the larger camp building had they not lost time in searching for the location, he added.

POTATO QUALITY

POTATO CHAMPION — Paul Van Damme (right) of Rock, Marquette county, is Michigan's new premier potato grower. His 868 bushels per acre was tops for 1953 and took the title from Frank Falkies, Cornell, Delta county, four-time winner since 1947. Van Damme is shown here, comparing notes at Farmers' Week at Michigan State College, with Dennis L. Clananhan M.S.C. potato specialist. Clananhan, formerly on Upper Peninsula assignment with M.S.C. extension forces, recalls that Paul was the first grower to break the 1,000-bushel mark with 1,038 bushels per acre in 1949. Falkies ran the record up to an all-time high last year of 1,083. Clananhan also recalls that Paul's father, Jules Van Damme, was the first grower to pass the 600-bushel mark. (M.S.C. Photo)

Civil Service Case Emphasizes Need For Observing Regulations

THE Escanaba Civil Service Commission has settled the issue of whether Herbert Carlson, a former patrolman, is entitled to a year's leave of absence or not by ruling 3-2, that Carlson had voluntarily separated himself from city service and had not been granted a leave of absence by the personnel director, City Manager A. V. Aronson.

If there was a misunderstanding in this case, it developed because of a lack of regard for Civil Service Commission rules. The regulations of the Commission provide that a leave of absence, if granted, must be granted in writing. That apparently was not done in this case, a fact that tends to uphold the action of the personnel director in separating Carlson from city service.

The importance of the Carlson case, insofar as it may apply to city service, is that it emphasizes the necessity for following Civil Service procedures as provided in the Civil Service Commission regulations. Obviously if the regulations are not to be observed, there is no point in adopting such regulations. To develop that point a step further, it is equally obvious that a Civil Service system without regulations is no Civil Service system at all.

Western Unity at Berlin Key to Parley's Success

THE United States entered the Four Power meeting in Berlin convinced that positive accomplishments were unlikely, but they were nevertheless aware, too, of the improbability of constructive results.

The three Western nations agreed that the conference might serve two purposes: to satisfy widespread European desire for a meeting that could possibly ease world tensions, and to satisfy Western diplomats' curiosity regarding changes in Russia's strategy since Stalin's death.

It was recognized at the same time that, whatever changes have occurred they do not include abandoning the effort to divide the West. Secretary of State Dulles particularly felt this, and he foresaw that Foreign Minister Molotov would try hard to split France, the weakest of the three off from Britain and the U. S.

Dulles therefore determined that France in the person of Foreign Minister Bidault, should speak most often for the West. In that way he was endeavoring to assure that France will not be disposed to yield to Molotov's subtle blandishments.

So far, at least, the tactic is working. Observers at the Berlin scene report that the Big Three are displaying impressive unity as they confront the Soviet Union. Through tight liaison work, they keep in close touch with each other's daily responses to various Russian overtures.

In the past, some criticism of one Western power by another often marred free-lance solidarity. This time there has been none of that.

If, in the end, no progress is made toward an Austrian treaty or the unification of Germany under free elections, and if the Russian attitude remains intransigent, the conferences in Berlin at least will have served to reaffirm Western comradeship in the cause of peace and freedom.

The extent and importance of this Western unity has apparently not registered on some of the Bevanite members of the Labor Party in Britain. Some of these are accusing Dulles of "trying to wreck" the Berlin meeting. The most charitable view is to assume that these figures, now standing for election, have been too busy to read the papers. A somewhat less kind view would be that they do not want to read what is happening; they prefer to go on deceiving themselves that all the world's ills can be solved at a stroke in a conference.

This is not possible, either at Berlin or anywhere else, whether it is Dulles, Eden and Bidault, or President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel. But some small gains are within the realm of possibility. And if they are to be achieved, they will most likely follow from the kind of unity Britain, France and the United States are currently displaying at Berlin.

Escanaba—Perry A. Lint, former Escanaba high school principal, has been appointed deputy chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

20 YEARS AGO

Gladstone—Iver E. Shelly, one of Gladstone's oldest in point of years in business, is retiring after 40 years activity here in merchandising.

Escanaba—Delta county lumber jacks are getting a kick out of the way the boys in the CC camps are being handled. One lumberjack surmised "the tables are being prepared on a formula of diet and dishes—but no food."

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Sedate and scholarly Dr. Arthur Burns, the ex-Columbia professor, now chief of Ike's council or economic advisers, went to great pains in explaining to senators why he had to testify about business recession in secret.

Then, after finally getting permission to talk in secret, he told the senators almost nothing they hadn't already heard in public.

Dr. Burns, appearing before the joint committee on the economic report, explained that he had been searching his soul as to whether to testify at all. The way he looked at it, he had a confidential relationship with the President. However, he had given the matter deep thought. Since cabinet officers are expected to testify, Burns decided he, too, had an obligation to appear before Congress—if requested. However, he had to insist that no transcript be taken of his remarks.

Senator Douglas of Illinois, an ex-professor of economics at the University of Chicago, promptly challenged him. Burns then went into a lengthy explanation, pointing out that in speaking off-the-cuff, he was apt to oversimplify a complex situation or to state an idea more positively than it ought to be expressed. Therefore, he preferred to keep his remarks informal. If a transcript were made, he said, it would make his testimony appear more formal than it actually would be.

There was also the possibility, he continued, that he might say something that would appear to be in contradiction of the President's economic report. He hastened to assure that he didn't mean he disagreed with the President's report in any detail. But in the course of speaking, he said, some statement of his might come out on the record that would appear to contradict the President. If that happened, he added solemnly, and his remark were made permanent in transcript form, he would feel constrained to resign within the hour.

Senator Douglas started to object further, but Senator Flanders of Vermont urged that Dr. Burns be given the right to testify without even a transcript being taken.

As a result, Burns was allowed to proceed behind closed doors without his words being recorded. However, his testimony was perfectly safe and could have been transcribed without embarrassing the President or anyone else.

Burns didn't deviate an iota from the President's economic report. He admitted that we are going through what he called a "mild contraction." But he insisted there is no reason to believe it will become any more severe, and there is good reason to believe the economy will start picking up again in late spring or early summer.

A BULL BETWEEN SENATORS

Widely known of Oregon, the lone independent senator, spoke in Austin, Texas, the other day where he paid tribute to the two Texas senators—in terms they didn't appreciate. Morse referred to Sen. Price Daniel as "representing the Texas oil lobby," and to Lyndon Johnson as "representing only himself."

After the speech, Morse remarked to Texas friends: "That speech cost me $1,000."

Asked for an explanation, Morse told how he was at a dinner at the home of Senator Kefauver when Price Daniel came up to him and said: "I understand you raise Devon cattle."

Morse replied that he did, and Senator Daniel went on to say that he and his brother wanted to experiment with crossing Devon bulls and Brahman cows in order to produce the best beef brand in the southwest.

"That's the test the University of Florida has also worked on," Morse observed.

"Have you got any Devon bulls you want to sell?" Daniel asked.

"Sure, I've got two of the best bulls in the east," Morse replied. "They're young, but they took the top prizes at the recent fair in Southern Maryland. I'll sell 'em for $500 each."

"All right," said the senator from Texas. "I'll come out and take a look at them. They're probably just what I need."

"So you can understand," Morse told his Texas friends, "that Senator Daniel, after what I said about him, is not going to pay me $1,000 for my two bulls."

Other Editorial Comments

REAL MEN IN THOSE DAYS (Milwaukee Journal)

There seems to be a school of thought, evidenced at hearings and discussions on juvenile delinquency, for instance, that today's youngsters lack the standards and abilities of their fathers.

It's not a new idea. Men have held it, probably, since they lived in caves. When you look at youngsters of today and say, "Now, when I was young," you're saying what your father said to you, and his father to him, and on so.

Irvin Edman, the writer and philosopher, touches on this theme in the current issue of American Scholar, Phi Beta Kappa magazine. And he recalls the story of an outbreak in Dartmoor prison a few years ago. The chairman of the royal commission went to the prison to see what was wrong. He interviewed an old man who had been in prison for years. What caused the trouble?

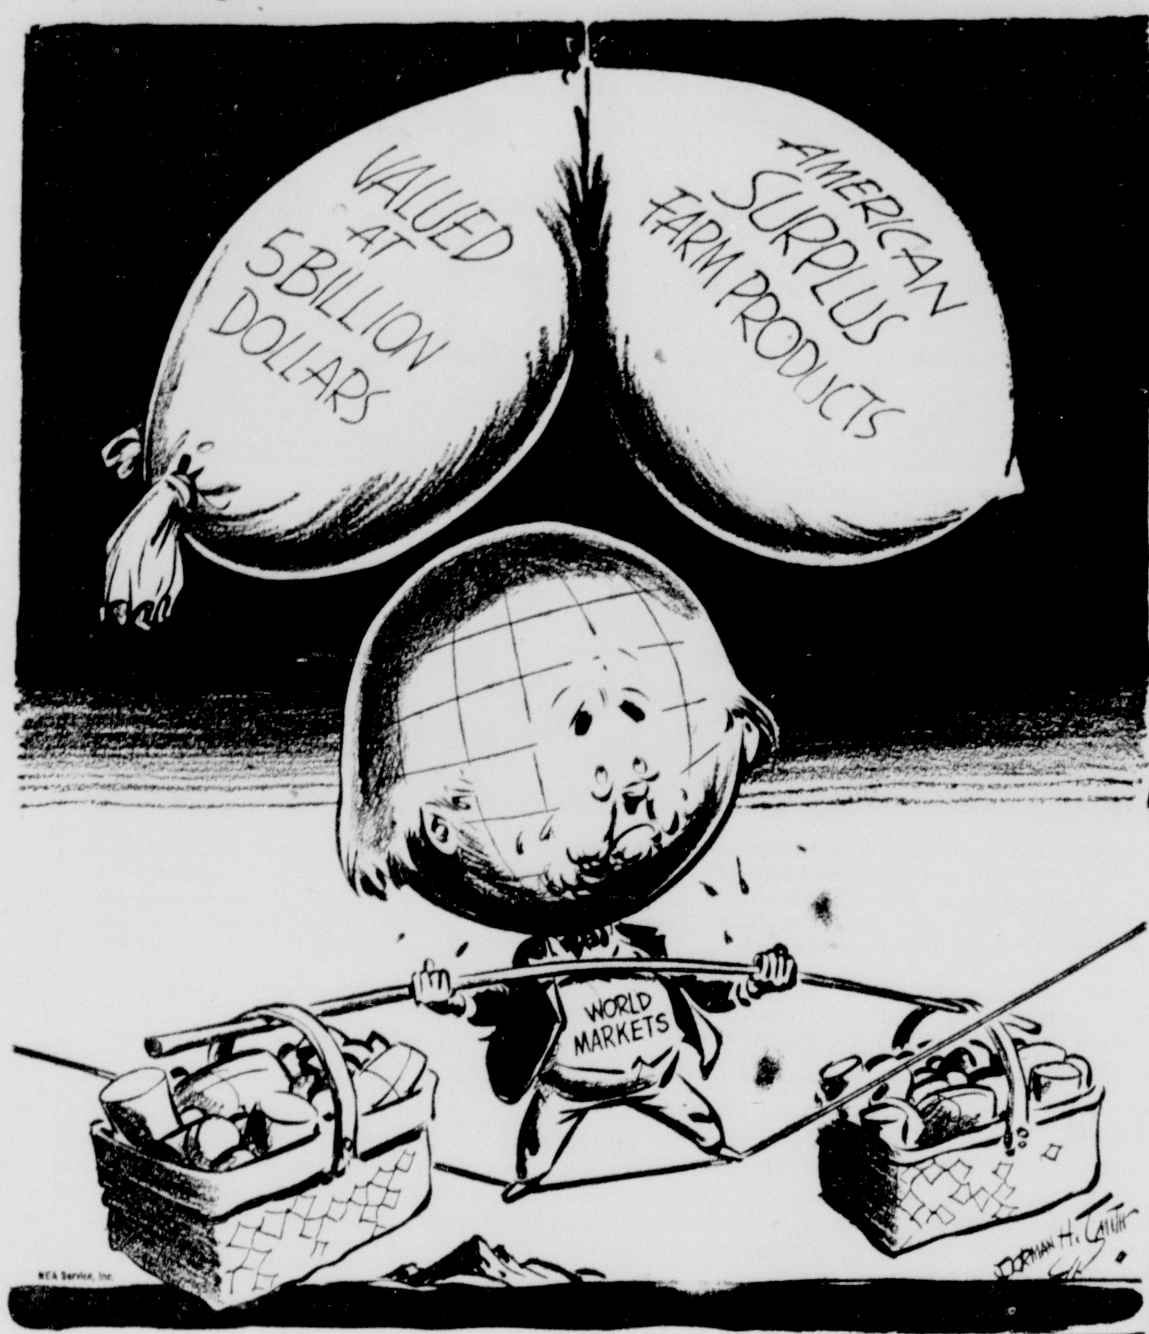

"Well, sir," said the old man confidentially, "I have been a member of this prison man and boy for 40 years. I think, I may properly claim to call this place my home. Now some says one thing, sir, and some says another. But, it's my belief, sir, we're not getting the stamp of man in 'ere we used to."

Questions and Answers

Q—What is the current status of legislation which was approved by one house but not by the other during the 1953 session of Congress?

A—All legislation introduced during the first session of a Congress remains "alive" or pending, during the second session. Though bills and resolutions remain "alive" from one session to the next, they do not carry over from one Congress to another and must be reintroduced in order to receive consideration.

Frightening, What?

Don't Kill Yourself Or Others: Idea Behind Safety Conference

By NED H. DEARBORN
President, National Safety Council
(Written for NEA Service)

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— If this country would spend on accident prevention five per cent of the cost of its traffic toll, that toll would come down in a hurry.

Last year, traffic accidents cost the American people $3,750,000,000. Think of what five per cent of that amount spent for additional traffic law enforcement, education and engineering would mean!

I believe that the White House Conference on Highway Safety—called by President Eisenhower to meet in Washington on Feb. 17, 18 and 19—will create an aroused public opinion that will help mobilize the resources necessary to do the accident prevention job.

The White House Conference is a perfectly logical and natural development. For good government, good citizenship and good driving go hand in hand.

No government that is interested in the welfare of its citizens could be unconcerned over the alarming toll of life, limb and property taken by traffic accidents in America.

No citizen who wants to help his country conserve its manpower and material resources could fail to respond to a request by the President of the United States to enlist in a crusade to prevent traffic accidents that squander those resources.

And certainly no driver who wants to stay alive and enjoy life in these United States can ignore the fact that the traffic conditions which have prompted President Eisenhower to call the White House Conference on Highway Safety also threaten the safety of every person who uses the public streets and highways.

The White House Conference is designed to activate and help the efforts already being put forth in this country to cut down this shameful and tragic traffic toll.

And it is my hope and belief that one of the greatest benefits that will come out of the Conference will be the added emphasis the Conference will give the importance of good traffic behavior in the mind of the average driver.

Engineering and enforcement are vital factors in traffic accident prevention, and we need more of each. But in the final analysis the traffic toll will rise and fall with the personal behavior of the individual driver and pedestrian.

I firmly believe that the big majority of drivers want to drive safely and properly. Their mistakes are due to thoughtlessness, unintentional negligence and often to plain ignorance of good driving practices.

But there is a small but vicious minority of drivers who should be put off the road and kept off the road until they learn how to behave. These are the smart-alecky speeders, the bulldozing road hogs, the drinkers who insist on driving, regardless, and the others who put their own conceit and convenience ahead of anyone's welfare, even their own.

Every lawful, decent driver must do more these days than watch his own traffic behavior. He must look out for the reckless and irresponsible people who infest the highways with potential death riding with them as a threat to every driver they pass. Many an innocent person has been killed in traffic accidents because he was literally run down by a dangerous, vicious driver who was too self-centered to care what might happen and too stupid to know that it could happen.

If the White House Conference can focus additional public attention on the traffic accident problem to the extent that the people will be more aroused than ever before to the danger of foolhardy drivers—even to the extent of demanding their removal from the highways—a great good will be done.

And this same added public attention will serve too, of course, to make better drivers out of all of us, as well as to step up engineering and enforcement.

Airborne Indians Good Forest Fire Fighters

WASHINGTON — Airborne Indians are among the nation's most efficient forest-fire fighters.

They recently helped save the Mount Wilson Observatory and the $4,000,000 television transmitter in the San Gabriel Mountains near Los Angeles. Indians were also flown to Yosemite and Yellowstone National Parks, particularly hard hit last year, says the National Geographic Society.

Lightning fires set a 25-year record in the national parks in 1953. Thirty-two blazes were touched off in Yosemite alone in a three-day period during September, and in Yellowstone lightning fires were discovered almost daily in late summer.

Suited To Job
The government has found the southwestern Indians, trained on their reservations, enthusiastic fire fighters—"by nature and habit suited to the job, accustomed to a rugged outdoor life, able to work long, hard hours without tiring, and courageous in the face of danger."

On their part, thousands of home-loving Apaches, Pueblos, Hopis and Navajos have learned that this well-paid seasonal work fills tribal coffers without causing them long absence from their reservations and families.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

FERRY TALE—Returning the other day from Lower Michigan by auto, we were stalled at the Straits of Mackinac, and waited five hours for the next boat leaving for the Upper Peninsula—a region which has been described as God's Country.

Entering the U. P. has become so far as we are concerned, almost as difficult as prying open the gateway to Heaven. All because Michigan is divided by five miles of water called the Straits of Mackinac.

Rushing north to catch the midnight boat, we found that it leaves Mackinac City at 11 p. m., and so we were forced to wait until 5 a. m. until the state ferry Vacationland made its next trip to St. Ignace.

Along with people in about 15 other cars, including women and children, we hunkered down to wait out the long cold night hours—hunched in autos or crouched on a few hardwood benches in what the state describes as a "waiting room" on the dock.

ROOM TO SPARE—After having coffee and a sandwich in Mackinac City to while away the time we drove to the dock and found that we and the other persons who had purchased ferry tickets were not permitted to board the Vacationland.

The big ferry with its comfortably warm lounges was temptingly near—but efforts to get aboard to wait out the long night hours failed. We tried it. Leaving our car and walking onto the boat through a narrow opening of the doors, we asked a member of the crew if we could stay in the lounge until it was time to drive the car on board.

"Geo," he replied, "I'll have to ask the first officer."

We followed him up the stairway to the lounge and sat down. He disappeared, presumably on his way to find the officer and obtain permission for us to stay aboard the ferry until 5 a. m.

THE ANSWER IS "NO"—While we waited, some of the other crew members came by and one of them said: "You might as well make yourself comfortable, you got a long wait ahead."

We had just made ourselves comfortable when the messenger came back from the first officer. The answer was "No," we couldn't stay on the boat. We wanted to know why not.

"Well," he said, "we have to move all of the furniture around and wax the floor."

We said we didn't mind. We would keep out of the way.

"I'm sorry," he blurted out, "but you can't stay. That's orders. If we let you stay, everybody will be up here."

Not everybody, we pointed out, just those who had purchased tickets and were going to St. Ignace. But logic was of no avail. The state boat was not for the likes of us cold and weary travelers. We were told to wait in the "waiting room" on the dock.

THE LONG HOURS — The so-called "waiting room" was already filled. There were hardwood benches around the walls of the small room, sufficient space for about 20 persons to sit or five persons to stretch out.

Two of the longest benches were occupied, full length, by the reclining forms of two state dock workers. A woman and her young daughter were sitting up. The dock workers had made themselves comfortable for the night. One had a blanket under him.

We went out to our car and tried to sleep, but it was cold. Other waiting motorists were in their cars. Motors would be running for awhile to provide some heat and would then be shut off. In one car we heard a mother's soothing voice and the crying of a child.

Meanwhile, the Vacationland stood at the dock, the comfortable lounges brightly lit, warm and inviting—but as distant to us as the North Pole or those who make highway department policy in the state's capital.

WELCOME THE BRIDGE — Huddled sleepless in the car we saw the railroad car ferry come in from St. Ignace and leave again within an hour.

We saw a man leave the Vacationland, get into a parked car and drive away—without turning on the car lights. About a half-hour later he returned, still lightless, parked the car and went aboard the ferry.

Going back to the waiting room to get warm we found the two dock workers still reclining. The one with the blanket was snoring gently. The woman and her young daughter came in from their car and sat on one of the benches. The mother tried to make the little girl comfortable but failed. They went out to their car again.

A few minutes before 5 a. m. a traveler came in from a car to tell a companion that the Vacationland was loading. The dock workers rushed out. Someday, let us hope, a bridge will make God's Country available to the traveler in a matter of minutes by car, rather than hours by boat.

Anyone prefers a boost to a boast from anyone.

Being easy to do by your friends never leads to being well-to-do!

Keep on your toes, girls, if you want to keep ahead of the heels.

The Doctor Says... Insomnia Is More Common Than Sleeping Too Much

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

A terrific question comes from Mrs. Z., who says, "Why do some people require more sleep than others? This friend of ours is going to sleep her life away. Will nervous people need more sleep?"

I must say frankly that I do not know why some people require more sleep than others, though certainly this seems to be the case. Furthermore, the same person appears to need more sleep at some periods of life than at others, again for reasons which are not entirely clear.

As to the friend who is sleeping her life away, there is insufficient information presented to judge on whether she is taking an abnormal amount of sleep, perhaps as the result of some definite disease condition, or whether she is one of those who merely sleep more than average.

The term "nervous people" is so vague that I should not like to comment on Mrs. Z.'s final question.

A much more common problem than sleeping too much is the complaint of sleeping too little—insomnia. Inability to sleep well all through the night certainly troubles an enormous number of people, though it appears to be quite common for people to think they sleep less than they actually do.

It has been pretty well proved that any emotional disturbance, whether painful or pleasurable, interferes with normal sleep.

The chronic worrier is particularly susceptible to insomnia. Often things are made worse by worrying about not sleeping. This latter is particularly undesirable, since nearly as much rest for the bodily functions can be obtained by lying quietly and relaxed in bed as if one is actually sound asleep.

MAKES INSOMNIA WORSE

The choice of prebedtime occupation for a person suffering from sleeplessness seems to be important. Too exciting television or radio programs, movies, or even books often make insomnia worse.

Unfortunately a great number of people who complain of sleeplessness try various drugs. This tendency to use drugs as an aid in getting sleep is unwise. The sleep-producing drugs have their place, but most of them are habit-forming if taken over long periods of time, and, after a while, they do not even produce the sleep which is desired. Drugs are a poor substitute for healthy living.

Politicians Muddled In Michigan Over Who's Going To Run

By JACK I. GREEN
 LANSING—The political grapevine is more grape than vine these days.
 Politicians, who love the game "who's going to run for governor," are getting muddled this year.
 Is Williams going to go for governor or senator? How's Brake holding up? What do you hear from Don Leonard? Is Higgins serious? What the heck is Cleary up to? Where does Keyes figure?
 The height of something or other was reached this week when a Democratic legislator deduced that Williams was going to run for governor because he was not supporting a bill to buy a governor's mansion.

Writes Himself Letters
 It's getting so that every time Williams announces a speaking engagement, which is 13 times a day, six reporters acting on a hot tip race out to cover the long-awaited announcement they just know he's going to make.
 The faithful have been alerted six times for an announcement from Donald S. Leonard, Detroit police commissioner. Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary is so badgered he says "I haven't made up my mind" if you just ask him how the weather looks.
 Dr. Eugene Keyes, the frenetic political aspirant from Dearborn, is busy writing himself letters, with copies to all his friends about what a great guy Keyes would be in the governor's office.
 Ex-U. S. Sen. Blair Moody is looking so much like a sphinx these days that, on meeting him, you immediately peer eastward for a glimpse of the jade Nile.
 Cause of all this modesty and restraint, of course, is Gov. Williams' refusal to punt or play trumps.

Brake Keeps Plugging
 Only the determined D. Hale Brake keeps plugging along. He's running for governor while the rest of them run in circles.
 The insiders have just about made up their minds that Williams intends to seek a fourth term as governor. But they were con-

House Still Needs 51 To Pass Bills

LANSING—Att. Gen. Frank G. Millard has ruled that 51 House votes still are needed to pass a bill even though there are now only 99 House members.
 The vacancy occurred in December when former Rep. Howard R. Estes (R-Birmingham) resigned. The question of how this affected the number needed for a majority was raised by Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg (R-Kalamazoo).
 Millard ruled that the constitution required a majority of "those elected" to pass bills and two-thirds of "those elected" to give bills immediate effect.
 This, he said, meant that the numbers needed for those purpose could not change, no matter how many vacancies occurred.

vinced, and with some reason, two months ago that it was the senator-ship he wanted.
 He's still in position to go either way, although the consensus grows that he will find U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson, the Republican incumbent, no pushover if he seeks the Senate post.
 It seems definite that Sen. George N. Higgins R-Ferndale oppose Brake for the Republican nomination — and a lot of folks think that will be the ticket right there.
 It appears to be to Williams' advantage to keep them guessing as long as possible. He has been advised to withhold any announcement until the Legislature is through April 9, or until it is nearly done.
 But, oh, the strain of waiting.

NEARING JOURNEY'S END — Three women dressed in white are kept busy packaging the 15,000 oven-ready ducks processed each week by the Hess duck farm in Hemlock, Mich. Leonard Considers Running For Governor

DETROIT — Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said that he is giving "every serious consideration" to his possible candidacy for governor.
 "Many people throughout the state have urged me to get into the race, but I have no comment at this time," he said.
 The Detroit Times said today that Leonard would announce his candidacy for governor of Michigan "within a week or 10 days."
 The 52-year-old commissioner was a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1952. He was defeated by Fred M. Alger, Jr., then Secretary of State.
 State Treasurer D. Hale Brake is the only Republican officially in the race. He announced his candidacy last November.
 Rumors that he might step out of the race to accept a new federal judgeship brought a firm denial from Brake Thursday.

"God giving me life and health, there is just one way that other candidates can get me out of the race. That is by beating me at the polls next Aug. 3."
 Brake is serving his sixth term as state treasurer. He is a veteran of four terms in the state Senate.

Tougher Courses For Easy Going Students

NEW YORK (AP)—Deans of Columbia University's Undergraduate College have decided that courses aren't tough enough. In their annual report, the deans said about a fourth of students really get their teeth into subjects, but the others get a "gentlemanly grade" without "undue mental exertion."
 Recommended: stiffer requirements that force the easy-going student "to perform at his optimum capacity."

U. P. Chinchilla Breeders Display Furs In Milwaukee

Upper Michigan chinchilla breeders fared very well at the regional chinchilla show held in Milwaukee during the past week-end.

Top honors at the show went to west coast chinchilla breeders but Upper Michigan exhibitors did exceptionally well in both the live animal contests and in the pet contests.

R. H. Clouse and Son, Rte. 1, Gladstone, won three ribbons, a first, a third and a fifth place, in the live animal division. Mrs. Edwin Selander of Perkins won a second and a third place ribbons and Frank LeMaire, Manistique, captured four ribbons, including a class championship rosette.

In the pet classifications, Melvin Trams of Escanaba and R. H. Clouse submitted entries that rated near the top of their divisions.

More than 300 live animals and 100 pelts were exhibited.

Baby-sitting started out as a girl's course, but when guys asked Mrs. Lindbeck why they couldn't learn, too, she gave in.

Boys like Steve Spalter prove they are good at burping babies.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sixth graders begging for homework? It won't be long now. Responsible is Mrs. Roberta Lindbeck, a District of Columbia Public Health nurse. Her brainstorm, a course in baby sitting, can change 11-year-olds into bottle warmers, baby burpers and diaper changers in four to six weeks. Come the middle of February a bunch of public school boys and girls, such as these at Whittier Public School, will be flashing baby-sitting "diplomas" around Washington. It was last year that Mrs. Lindbeck first tried out her idea. The kids loved it. The mothers reported: "We no longer have to coax and bribe; now the children ask to mind the baby." Several other schools in Washington are now using the program. It looks like the four R's—Readin', ritin', rhythmic and Rock-a-bye—are here to stay—PATTI SIMMONS.

Flint Collision Is Fatal To Five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two tragic crashes—one claiming five lives and the other four—added their victims to make Michigan weekend traffic death toll 19.

A late Sunday night collision on Flint's outskirts killed four of one family and left the only survivor critically injured. A Lapeer man also died in this smashup.

Four persons died 24 hours earlier as one car rammed another near Parma, exploding the gasoline tank of one of the vehicles. Here, too, there was only one survivor and she was critically hurt.

A 14-month-old baby, Betty Ann Hill, died, after eating sodium salicylate pills she found while playing in her mother's purse Saturday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hill of Parma.

Victims of the crash on Flint's eastern outskirts were William M. Lemm, 28; his wife, Carol, 24; their daughters, Dawn, 2, and Deborah, 3 months, all of Davison, and Russell L. Bond, 26, of Lapeer. The Lemm family was wiped out except for 4-year-old Janice, who is in critical condition with a fractured skull.

Lemm's and Bond's automobiles hit with such terrific force that the front wheels of Bond's car were thrown into the front seat of his car.

Conservation Chief Orders 7 Suspended In Grand Jury Quiz

LANSING (AP)—Immediate suspension of seven Upper Peninsula employees was ordered today by Conservation Director G. E. Eddy.

The seven were named in findings handed down Friday by Circuit Judge Donald E. Holbrook of Clare, who conducted a one-man grand jury investigation of charges of irregularities in the conduct of Conservation Department business north of the Straits.

Eddy emphasized that the seven "will be given every opportunity to defend themselves."

Eddy added he would confer with civil service authorities before taking permanent disciplinary action.

Judge Holbrook said that on the basis of sworn testimony there was probable cause for dismissal or removal of Bernard Stephansky, law enforcement supervisor at Baraga; Otto de Waard, district game supervisor at Newberry; Leslie Walstrom, conservation officer at Seney; Harold Peters, conservation officer at Germfask; John Anguilm, forest fire technician at Marquette, and John J. Marnich, office manager at Baraga.

The charges ranged from dealings in state lands and timber "on the side" to misuse of state property and state funds.

week all votes on the constitutional treaty-power amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), which has split party ranks. Knowland said there is some hope that the cooling-off period might produce progress toward a compromise.

However, Bricker left for a vacation in Florida with the apparent idea that compromise efforts are over. He said he wants the Senate to vote up or down his most recent proposal, already termed unacceptable by Knowland, before he will enter any further negotiations.

This version would permit a treaty or international agreement to become effective as internal law only by act of Congress or by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

The Republican National Committee, winding up a party centennial meeting here Saturday, praised in a resolution "the great record of achievement" of the Eisenhower administration.

The resolution claimed among achievements the end of the Korean War, a new defense policy, removal of subversives and security risks from government, cuts in spending, a halt in rising living costs and a climb to a record level of prosperity.

Administration Talks Prosperity But Readies Plans, Just In Case

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY
WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower Administration is countering talk of impending hard times with a double remedy. It is talking prosperity, as opposed to economic gloom, and, to play safe, is making anti-recession plans.

By the end of 1953, conflicting signs pointed to both a business slump and economic stability in 1954. The Administration was optimistic—but it also wasn't taking chances.

Jan. 4, President Eisenhower told the nation "we must not and need not tolerate a boom-and-bust America." In his State of the Union address Jan. 7, the President expressed confidence that the nation could make the "transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy" without "serious interruption in our economic growth."

But, he added, "we shall not leave this vital matter to chance. Economic preparedness is fully as important to the nation as military preparedness." The Council of Economic Advisers, headed by Dr. Arthur F. Burns, and the Advisory Board on Economic Growth and Stability (composed of department and agency heads and representatives) have been hard at work drawing up an anti-slump program.

Recession Omens
Although 1953 was a record year for the national economy, some end-of-the-year statistics indicated a slackening-off which some economists and Democratic Congressmen predicted was the start of a full-fledged business recession. Among the indicators of trouble for 1954:

A drop in industrial production and business spending for new plant and equipment.

Sharp rise in unemployment, from November to December, of more than 400,000, bringing the total number of jobless to 1,850,000. Increasing unemployment for farm workers, and the possibility total unemployment may have topped two million in 1954.

Downward trend in new non-farm housing starts and the falling off of business inventories.

Good Times Signs
But some fiscal experts point to these signs of good times ahead:

Continued high level of consumer income, spending and saving.

General increase in new public and private construction.

High ratio of employment (estimated 62 million average for 1953) to unemployment (estimated 1.5 million average for 1953).

Slump Antidotes
Most economists seem to anticipate a period of business readjustment, and in his State of the Union message, the President touched on some of the economic props under consideration to ensure a stronger economy. He recorded:

"Public works laid well in advance." (The public works program is a recession standby that helps create a need for labor and materials, and stimulates the private construction industry.)

"Tax measures to stimulate consumer and business spending." Specifically, the President proposed "more liberal tax treatment for dependent children who work, for widows or widowers with dependent children, and for medical expenses."

"For the business that wants to expand or modernize its plant,"

2-Way RELIEF for Dry Eczema Itch

When itching persists due to lack of natural skin oils. Resinol Ointment gives quick relief. Rich in lanolin, it oils and softens dry skin as its six medicaments soothe fiery itching. 2-Way relief that brings long-lasting comfort.

he added, "we propose liberalized tax treatment of depreciation, research and development expenses and retained earnings."

For social security, the President recommended, "Strengthened old age and unemployment insurance measures." The Administration and many Congressmen have proposed extending the program, which now covers 60 million people, to an additional 10.5 million persons such as farmers, doctors and lawyers now excluded.

The President also proposed extending unemployment benefits to some 6.5 million more workers.

Wisconsin Pushes Dairy Promotion

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Wisconsin farmers invested $585,901 in American Dairy Association sales promotion during 1953, the ADA of Wisconsin reports. The figure was a new record.

The money was raised through a voluntary checkoff of one cent per pound of butterfat produced in June and July. This year the checkoff became two cents per 100 pounds of milk, or one-half cent per pound of butterfat on a year-around basis.

This Valentine Party Keeps 'Em In Stitches

OPERATION INNOVATION—This puzzled pup in a Chicago area.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
Valentine's Day may mean true love to the prom set, but to Junior it's the signal for a party.

If you're faced with entertaining a crew of space cadets on the big day, take a tip from local sewing center experts for a game to keep them floored for hours. St. Valentine is down for the count in this easy-to-stitch heart game, where red heart bean bags are tossed at a large white heart, cross-marked for easy scoring.

You will need one yard of white felt, 72 inches wide, 1 1/2 yard of bright red felt, two spools of red mottled thread and one of black.

To make a pattern for the big heart, use a large double sheet of newspaper. Cut a half heart from the doubled sheet, open, and use pinkish shears to cut the white felt by the pattern.

With black thread in your machine, use the zigzag attachment to stitch a heavy straight line across the width of the heart. Make two more diagonal lines, dividing the heart into six sections.

Now cut seven pieces of red felt 3 1/2 by 5 inches. Trace numbers lightly in pencil. Make two each of number 2, 3, and 4, and one of number 1. Baste pieces to white heart so that numbers are approximately centered in the sections. Zigzag in red thread around number outlines; trim away excess felt.

To make beanbags, cut six pieces of red felt 4 by 4 inches. Trace heart shape on each with pencil. Now place two pieces together, and zigzag around the heart outline, leaving a 1-inch opening on one side. Fill heart with beans, complete stitching, and trim excess with pinkish shears.

This game may be played on a bridge table or on the floor by any number of children. High score wins.

It's a good idea to make a few extra red hearts to fill with sachet for a teen-age daughter, or to baste on her felt skirt for an amusing motif. For a teen-age party, mark the sections with the initials of the local Romeos for a novel variation on spin-the-bottle.

Tuna With Guacamole
Ingredients: 2 medium-size avocados, 3 tablespoons (about) red wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon finely grated onion, two 6 1/2-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, salt and pepper, lettuce, cucumber and paprika or pimiento-stuffed olives or pimiento (for garnish).
Method: Seed and peel avocados; force through a sieve into mixing bowl. Mix in vinegar and onion. Drain tuna and add. Mix lightly so as not to break up tuna too much. Add salt lightly (because there will be quite a bit in the tuna) and pepper to taste. Serve on lettuce; garnish with unpeeled fluted cucumber slices sprinkled with paprika or with sliced olives or strips of pimiento. Makes 4 large or 6 medium servings.

AP Newsfeatures
If you want to be popular, plan a party for someone occasionally — instead of just inviting the crowd in.

It takes little additional effort to give a going-away party for Marge, a birthday party for John or even a party for a successful friend — such as one who gets a job promotion, who has been elected class president or who has won laurels for being a heap-big athlete.

Peg your party to a person and you'll have more fun planning it. Once your crowd gets in the spirit of that kind of party-giving, your turn to be feted will come along, also.

Your invitations can be informal — by telephone, or just as informal by mail. If a small group is asked you can plan a mail invitation to match the idea.

Let's say, for instance, that everybody likes a girl named Mary, and that Mary has been voted "the girl with the prettiest smile" in your school. Well, why not toast her for that?

Novel Invitation

Acute invitation could be a pair of smiling lips cut from mat paper, folded so that the invitation may be written inside. (If the person is going on a trip, the invitation could be in the shape of a suitcase, a ship or even an automobile, depending on the mode of travel.)

The lips invitation might read: "Come to a party. That'll be happy and gay. Our Mary will smile. 'Your troubles away.'"

A party like this does call for a gift — a little, inexpensive one, gaggy or useful. It is always fun to cut the ice at a party by opening gifts — those first few laughs will get the party off to a good start.

For Mary the crowd could take a choice of tooth paste, tooth brush, tooth whitener, lipstick, lip brush, lip chap pomade, etc. to dress up her smile Or give her things to make her smile — such as a pet turtle, a guppy for her fish tank, a collar for her dog, a catnip mouse for her cat, a recording of her favorite singer.

The smiling motif could be used for decoration — one large pair of cardboard lips with pearly teeth will suffice. But if you don't have time for decorations, don't worry.

Within the Budget
This type of party doesn't need to be a break-the-budget party. The idea is to get the crowd together. Then all you need is a tasty menu that comprises an inexpensive food such as spaghetti with a new type of sauce, perhaps. (One girl we know has even served nothing but string beans at a party. Her success was all with the sauce of fried onions and chopped bacon.)

So take your choice of the green flat-type spaghetti, resembling a narrow noodle (Verdi Tagliatelle — meaning green little ribbons — is the name of one) or extra-thin spaghetti. Cook the spaghetti about 9 minutes for the best taste appeal, put your all into the sauce which can be prepared before the company arrives. Clam sauce — make it with canned minced clams, thickened with flour and milk to which parsley and a little onion is added or use the minced clams rinsed of salt and sand, sauteed in butter with onion. Or mix cooked spaghetti with cheese and chopped mushroom sauce and put it in a casserole to mellow until the crowd arrives. They'll smack their lips!

Mademoiselle Back In Style Business

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—After 15 years away from the fashion world, the internationally famous Mademoiselle Chanel is coming back. She reopened her exclusive fashion house and presented a collection this month after all present top designers have shown theirs.

People close to Mlle. Chanel (who made Chanel No. 5 one of the most coveted perfumes in the world) say that the reason behind her decision to re-enter business has nothing to do with a need to make money.

She thinks there are too many men now in the business who know nothing about the psychology of dress. She calls the current styles "too busy, to complicated" and "unflattering to most women."

She also feels that the present French designers are allowing British, Spanish and Italian designers to challenge their supremacy.

Mlle. Chanel is not aiming at a ready-to-wear market. Her collection will, it's said, stress the ultra-luxurious simplicity that made her world-famous between the two world wars.

"I've been a Pentecostal minister for 30 years, and for nine years of that I was a missionary on the highways."

She is going to Oregon because of her health, Mrs. Poulson said.

Mardi Gras Will Climax 63-Day New Orleans Fete

WASHINGTON — A score of parades and more than 50 balls will enliven New Orleans from now until March 3, as carnival time grips the Crescent City.

Shrove Tuesday, or "Fat Tuesday" as Orleanians affectionately call it, will climax the flamboyant Mardi Gras in the Louisiana metropolis. On that day—March 2—Comus and Rex, Lord of Misrule, will reign as festival kings.

A medieval fete, transplanted from southern Europe by early French colonists, the Mardi Gras has become one of America's best-known municipal entertainments, says the National Geographic Society.

Pre-Lenten Festivities

Mardi Gras' exact birthdate is obscure, but masquerade dances in a 10-day pre-Lenten period were popular with delta settlers two centuries ago. Later the carnival season's opening was pushed up to Twelfth Night—January 6.

The first organized Mardi Gras street parade occurred on February 27, 1838. Floats were introduced in the 1857 parades. In that year also torches were first used to light the processions.

King Rex made his initial appearance in 1872. Three years later "Fat Tuesday" was made a legal holiday in New Orleans. It derives its name from an ancient French custom in which a garlanded boeuf gros, or fat beef, was paraded through town before being roasted for a village feast.

By 1881 the Mardi Gras parades were attracting 60,000 visitors annually. This year an estimated quarter-of-a-million out-of-towners will invade New Orleans to watch what has been termed "the greatest free show on earth."

There have been a few temporary eclipses of the spectacle. The Spaniards, when they ruled New Orleans, once banned it, claiming criminals were taking advantage of the anonymity provided by masks. The carnival was suspended for the four years of the Civil War and was suppressed once during the Reconstruction. It halted again for two years during World War I and for four years during the last war.

Colorful Themes

Mardi Gras parades are based on historical, legendary and mythological themes. Each parade features some 20 floats—wheeled flat-cars 20 feet long and eight feet wide topped with papier-mache creations. Floats and costumes may cost $20,000 or more per parade and are exhibited only once.

Krewes, or private clubs, sponsor the Mardi Gras parades and dances. Today there are more than 60 krewes.

The production of costumes, floats and stage sets has developed into a multimillion-dollar home industry in New Orleans. All floats are built in secrecy to prevent revelation of the parade themes.

Prisoner Obliges Arresting Agents

MIAMI, Okla. (P)—Anything to oblige, said T. H. (Tab) Bluejacket to state crime bureau agents who had just raided his night club near Afton.

Agent Ray Page asked Bluejacket for the use of his truck to haul in whisky and gambling equipment seized in the raid. Bluejacket not only loaned his vehicle but drove it to the courthouse.

He pleaded innocent to charges of illegal possession of liquor and gambling devices and was released on $1,000 bond.

Art Class Will Start Tuesday

A second session of an adult art class in watercolor painting will be started here Tuesday night in Manistique High School.

At least 12 students must register for the class to continue. Meetings will be held in the art room.

Any interested person, beginner or advanced painter, is invited to enroll for the course. A fee of $5 will be charged for eight lessons.

Cows Have No Monopoly On World's Milk Supply

WASHINGTON—Bossy or Bos-tarus, the dairy cow, dominates the milk business in the Western World but in other climes she has strong competition, the National Geographic Society points out.

In the Arctic, half-wild reindeer herds give milk that Laplanders keep all winter in frozen chunks. Africa's Bedouins and Somalis drink the sweet milk of camels. Egypt's fellahs, Indians and many East Asians milk water buffalo. Ass's milk has been drunk for countless centuries, as has that of the productive goat.

Mice, Lions And Whales

Recently, medical research has had need for mouse milk. Several thousand mice are machine milked regularly in New York City. Their total output of two quarts a year is valued at $10,000 a quart.

In South Africa one daredevil suitor won his lady only after milking a wild lioness for his prospective father-in-law. Whale's milk collected on Antarctic whaling ships and analyzed by British scientists was found far richer in fat and protein than cow's milk but somewhat fishy in odor.

Cheese has been made from sheep's milk in Europe for thousands of years; France's Roquefort blend of ewe's milk, cured in caves, is world famous.

Central Asian tribes, particularly the Kazakhs, long have drunk mare's milk, fresh or fermented in coltskin bags into a mildly alcoholic brew called kumiss. From kumiss is distilled airak, of brandy strength. Marco Polo was the first to describe the hard-riding Mongols' use of condensed mare's milk, dried to a paste that they could easily carry with them.

Zebu cattle are widespread in India. Milk is obtained from the Banteng of Southeast Asia, and from shaggy yaks in Tibet and the mountain country of the Kirghiz peoples. Some tribes sprinkle yak's milk on their foreheads to bring good fortune during a journey.

Milk Aristocrats

Milk is a factor in social position among natives of Uganda in Africa. Herdsmen form the dominant class, higher than crop farmers. The Bahima, or ruling caste, rigidly adheres to a diet of milk and beef. Royal milkmaids tend cows owned by the Mukama, or king; Europeans seldom view the milkings, and the milk always is carried to the royal house with great ceremony.

China, Japan, and Korea, on the other hand, use little milk. Millions of pasture animals would be needed to supply the densely-populated Asian lands. China's agricultural base is vegetable rather than animal.

Milk drunk by man sometimes comes from trees, however. Coconut "milk" is one example. In addition, the Latin American tropics boast milk-giving "cow-trees."

Several different trees yield milks, nutritious sap that is almost indistinguishable from true milk. It can be drunk, used in cooking, or even made into whipped cream. Venezuela has one species of milk tree, Brazil another. Versatile Brazilian tree milk, left for a time in the open air, can then be used as glue.

Mrs. Kaminen Injures Finger In Freak Accident At Home

ROCK—Preparations for making a cake resulted in a freak accident for Mrs. Edward Kaminen of Rock on Friday afternoon when the middle finger of her left hand became twisted into the beaters of the electric mixer.

After making one cake, Mrs. Kaminen removed the beaters, washed them in preparation of making another cake and was putting them back into the machine which was still plugged into the outlet, when her hand somehow touched the switch and the mixer turned on an caught her finger into the beaters.

She could not get her finger on the beaters out of the machine because the motor became locked, so she removed the mixer from the stand and went to the phone with it on her hand to call her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Jokela, who in turn called the Rock Co-op Garage for someone to come with a tin snip shears and help remove her finger from the beaters.

In record time, Mrs. Jokela, Roy Johnson and Albert Weldon arrived at the Kaminen home. Roy cut up the beaters in order to remove the finger. The finger was numb and cut in several places, but luckily the circulation was not stopped from more than fifteen minutes. Being a nurse, Mrs. Kaminen put a splint and bandage on the finger herself.

She lives about a mile west of Rock and was home alone, except for her little girl, at the time of the accident.

City Hall Workers Walk Very Lightly

TUCSON, Ariz. —Old-time workers in the City Hall are a little stunned by what the man who supervised its construction has to say. Architect M. H. Starkweather said the building went up according to faulty plans. He said it was unsound from the day it was built. That was in 1917.

"It was falling to pieces then," Starkweather added. Meanwhile, City Hall workers tread lightly.

By BOB MYERS

The two tee off at the Phoenix County Club this afternoon over the 18-hole route, and a sudden death finale if they are still deadlocked at the end of the 18 holes.

Middlecoff, 32-year-old former National Open champion from Memphis, was the solid favorite to defeat the 38-year-old St. Louis pro. They wound up in a tie at the end of the regulation 72 holes of the main show Sunday and both said they would not play for an equal split of the $3,400 representing the first and second place money.

Pistons Back In Second Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Fort Wayne Pistons are back in second place today in the Western Division of the National Basketball Assn. after snapping the Minneapolis Lakers' 11-game winning streak.

Fort Wayne trails the Lakers by six and a half games, following a 90-83 triumph Sunday night. The series between the clubs is tied at 4-4 with two games remaining.

The Pistons' victory coupled with Rochester's 75-73 loss to the Baltimore Bullets moved Fort Wayne into a one-game lead over the third place Royals.

In the Eastern Division race, the Syracuse Nationals remained 2½ games back of the New York Knickerbockers, by trouncing the Milwaukee Hawks 88-73 while the Knicks outlasted the Boston Celtics 87-78.

The Pistons led the Lakers 44-42 at halftime but increased their margin to a 20-point quarter, 69-49, at the end of three quarters. The Lakers came within one point, 83-82, with a minute to go before George Yardley scored a field goal to cement the victory.

Rocket Richard Nears No. 400

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 32-year-old right winger's 31st and 32nd tallies of the season were enough to give the Montreal Canadiens a 4-1 victory over the New York Rangers last night before 15,925 fans — the largest crowd at Madison Square Garden in more than five years.

In other games, the league-leading Detroit Red Wings tied the Boston Bruins 1-1 and the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks downed the Toronto Maple Leafs 2-1.

At Chicago, the Hawks snapped a five-game losing streak on the strength of first period tallies by Bill Mosenko and Jack McIntyre.

Short-Handed Indians Lose At Prison, 6-5

MARQUETTE—A short-handed Gladstone Indian hockey sextet lost a narrow 6-5 verdict to the Prison Pirates here Sunday afternoon, and missed a tie game when a disputed goal by Gordon Haga was ruled out by the referee who lost sight of the puck in a scramble before the Pirates' goal.

The Indians traveled to Marquette with only three spares when five players failed to show up for the trip. Gladstone lacked a third line and spare defense.

Coach Haga has called practice sessions for Tuesday and Thursday nights and the Indians will make a home stand against the Marquette Warriors next Sunday. Winger Jim Rose opened scoring midway in the first period with an assist from Haga. Dunlop tied the count at 3:00 in the second period and Champagne put the prisoners ahead minutes later. Rose dented the Pirates' net to tie it up 2-2 and Jim King sent the Indians ahead 3-2 after taking a pass from Haga. Haga and Farrier scored again before the period ended to make it 4-4 entering the final stanza.

Jim Smith's score sent Gladstone ahead early in the third but Riley knotted it at 5-5. Haga's score as the game ended was ruled no goal by the referee. The Indians may book another game at the prison at a later date, Haga stated.

Each team had two penalties, with Jack Forvilly and Leon Mileski sitting out for covering the puck and tripping and Dunlap and Champagne for tripping and boarding.

Wings Keep Torrid Pace

BOSTON —The Detroit Red Wings made it seven straight games without a defeat for their longest unmarred streak of the season with a 1-1 hockey tie with Poston-Sunday night.

The Wings topped Boston Saturday night 4-2, but had to count on a second period goal last night by rookie Earl Dutch Reibel for the 1-1 tie.

With both Toronto and Montreal winning last night, Detroit's National Hockey League lead stood at 9 points above Montreal and 10 above Toronto.

Boston winger Leo La Bine found his own rebound and whisked it past Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk in the second period to give Boston a 1-0 lead.

Then with only 24 seconds left in the period Reibel picked up a pass from Gordie Howe behind the Bruin cage and shot it past Boston goalie Sugar Jim Henry.

The tie was the end of a seven game winning streak the Wings had over Boston.

Sudden Switch

BALTIMORE —On the back of one game last season, defensive halfback Carl Taseoff of the Baltimore Colts should be in line for more offensive duties.

Against Detroit, Taseoff carried the ball once from scrimmage. He plunged one yard for a touchdown.

In the same game he caught his only punt of the season and ran it back 73 yards for another score.

Two Manistique Riders Win Junior Ski Titles

MANISTIQUE — Two Manistique ski riders copped first place in Class 1 and 2 in the North Central district championship junior ski tournament at Allen hill here Sunday afternoon.

Notching first honors in Class 1 was Dan Harbick, Manistique skier who jumped 65 and 67 feet to gain 140.3 points. In Class 2, Jack Swartstrom of Manistique was first with jumps of 75 and 74 feet for 139.7 points.

A Marquette skier, Thomas Hillier, was first in Class 4 with jumps of 58 and 52 feet for 131.1 points. First place in third class went to Daniel Hillier of Ishpeming, who jumped 68 feet and 72 feet for a point total of 142.2.

Judging in the contest was by Walter Murray and L. J. Mayrand of Ishpeming.

Crowd of 1000
The tournament for junior skiers aged 11 through 18, from Upper Michigan and Northern Wisconsin drew a crowd of 1,000 spectators here. The hill was excellent, and wind did not interfere.

A Manistique skier, Jack Swartstrom, was tied with Daniel Hillier of Ishpeming, for first place as the most graceful rider in the championship tournament.

Willie Erickson of Iron Mountain made the longest jump of the day.

First place winners in each class, the most graceful riders, and the rider with the longest jump received gold medals at an award banquet for 125 skiers and guests in the Veterans of Foreign

Whitfield Will Try For 4-Minute Mile

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK —Now that Mal Whitfield has no more worlds to conquer in the middle distances, he has decided to shoot for the sky—the fabled four-minute mile.

The former Air Force sergeant who won both the 600 and 880 in the Millrose Games Saturday night, said today he would run his first eight-furlong effort at the Santa Barbara Relays in April.

"While the indoor season is on," he said, "I'm going to keep doubling up. That's the best training a runner can get if he is going to try what I intend to attempt."

Doesn't Like Boards

The lithe Ohio State alumnus will stick to the middle distances during the indoor campaign, which ends late next month.

"I don't particularly like the mile indoors because the board laps almost always are shorter than the cinders," he said, indicating they were more suited to the middle distances.

He didn't say he would run the four-minute mile, which thus far has eluded the likes of Gordon Pirie, Wes Santee and John Landy. But he said he would give it a good try.

In Saturday's meet, he won the

Bat Nelson, One Of Great Ringmen, Dies Penniless

By TOM BRANAGAN
CHICAGO (AP)—The courageous, tragic life of Oscar "Batling" Nelson, one of boxing's finest, ended Sunday in a hospital charity ward.

The former brilliant and once wealthy lightweight champion succumbed to lung cancer at the age of 71 — a wasted, incoherent little man without a penny to his faded name.

It was the end of a slide from the heights of prestige and fortune — a slide that began nearly 25 years ago for the storied "Durable Dane," whose fists earned him the world's title in the early 1900s.

Just a month ago he was committed to the Chicago State Hospital after a court found him suffering from "an incurable senile dementia" and unable to take care of himself. A week before, his wife, Edna, 49, had died.

Lost Ring Fortune

Nelson weighed only 80 pounds when he was sent to the institution. He lost a half-million dollar fortune in the financial crash of 1929 and spent his last years subsisting on the public dole and the handouts of friends.

The latest windfall came a few months ago when it was announced that between two and three thousand dollars had been turned over to the aging "Bat" and his wife. The money came from fund-raising campaigns in San Francisco and Chicago. None of it apparently was left.

Nelson, who came to his country from Denmark as an infant, fought his first fight at 14 against a circus heavyweight.

Thereafter, in a 22-year ring career, he fought approximately 250 times. He won the lightweight championship in 1908 with a knockout over Joe Gans, the clever Baltimore Negro, and lost it in 1910 in a 40-round bout with Ad Wolgast.

Rated Greatest Ever

His last match, in 1917, was a 12-round no-decision affair with the then - lightweight champ, Fred Welsh.

Nelson's fighting weight was 133 pounds and those who saw him say he was the greatest piece of fighting machinery the prize ring has ever known. He also was noted for an amazing capacity for absorbing punches.

One of boxing's real classics was the first fight between Gans and Nelson. It went 42 rounds, or about three hours, in sun-baked Goldfield, Nev., and after both fighters had taken terrific punishment, Gans was declared the winner on a foul.

They fought twice more—Nelson winning the title on the next occasion and again knocking out Gans in their final bout.

Was Free Spender

Other men he licked included Young Corbett, Jimmy Britt, Terry McGovern and Eddie Santry, all top fighters of their day.

Nelson was a free spender and an easy touch in his moneyed days but wasn't depressed by his turn in fortune. Ten years ago he was able to grin and say:

"Sure I lost everything I ever had. But I'm not kicking. I'm alive and working at the post office and I have no regrets."

His first wife was Fay King, now a New York columnist, who has offered to pay his funeral expenses. Members of the Veteran Boxers' Assn. of Illinois say they will handle arrangements.

Indians Check Weak Positions In Lineup

By AL LOPEZ
TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—We are inclined to believe that the Cleveland Indians' prime weakness in 1953 was at first base and in the outfield. Still another outstanding problem that we have had for several years is lack of team speed.

We believe we have taken steps to remedy these weaknesses with the purchase of Rocky Nelson and Gal Wade from Brooklyn. Nelson was voted the most valuable player in the International League last year when he led the league in home runs and runs batted in and we are inclined to believe that he may help us very much at first base.

Hit .316 In Texas

Wade was the fifth leading batter in the Texas League with a .316 mark and was deemed one of the better major league prospects in that league. He is very fast and led the league in stolen bases with 31.

In addition to Nelson and Wade, the outstanding rookie may turn out to be a young lefthanded pitcher named Dick Tomaneck. You may recall that Tomaneck pitched one of our late season games against Detroit and showed a great deal of poise as he defeated the Tigers.

In his first full season in professional ball with Indianapolis last summer, he won 13 games and lost 8.

Pitching Prospect

Another good pitching prospect is Jose Santiago, who has been in our farm system for five years and has always been with a pennant winner.

We don't plan any lineup changes at this time, but naturally we would like to make a deal that would help us. Hank Greenberg has been in constant touch with three or four American League clubs and it is possible that before the start of the season we might consummate a deal or two.

The only returning serviceman that we have is young Hal Naragon, an excellent catcher who may be able to make the grade with us. We are losing no players to the service.

Giants Sign Five Players

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, one of the last major league clubs to get their 1954 contracts in the mails, are making up for lost time.

They signed five players during the weekend—pitchers Hoyt Wilhelm, Johnny Antonelli and Don Liddle, second baseman Billy Klaus and catcher Ebba St. Claire. The last four were obtained in last week's trade which sent Bobby Thomson and Sam Calderone to Milwaukee.

The Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers each came to terms with four players. Outfielders Billy Bruton and Jim Pendleton, first baseman-outfielder George Metkovich and pitcher Lew Burdette were signed by Milwaukee and pitchers Johnny Podres, Ron Negray, Glen Mickens and Don Bessent by the Braves.

Other satisfied players were outfielder Jackie Jensen, pitcher Ellis Kinder and catcher Gus Niarhos of the Boston Red Sox; pitcher Larry Lasalle of Pittsburgh; shortstop Chico Carrasquel of the Chicago White Sox; and catcher Clyde McCullough of the Chicago Cubs.

Ishpeming And Iron Mountain Skiers Win

OCONOMOWOC, Wis. (AP)—Michigan skiers from Iron Mountain and Ishpeming swept the top places in the 24th annual Oconomowoc Ski Club Jumping Tournament Sunday.

Reuben Hamari of Iron Mountain leaped 101 and 103 feet for 143.6 points for Class A honors. Gerald Gauthier, whose brother Ray took second place yesterday in the Class B division of the Michigan Open, jumped to second place in Class A.

The Ishpeming skier jumped 100 and then 97 feet for 139.9 points.

Brud Willard of Iron Mountain took the Class B crown with jumps of 89 and 87 feet for 133.7 points.

Big Ten Feature Has Gophers At Indiana

CHICAGO (AP)—What is expected to be one of the Big Ten basketball season's classics comes up tonight at Bloomington, Ind., where the lofty Indiana Hoosiers meet the tied-for-second Minnesota Gophers.

The Hoosiers numbered Minnesota among their victims in compiling a perfect record of seven straight conference victories to date. They won a 71-63 decision on the Gophers' home court.

However, Minnesota partisans maintain that their boys had an off night.

Since then, Minnesota has won six straight in the Big Ten, including one over Iowa, the team that is tied with the Gophers for second place. Each has won six and lost one.

Kalafatis Finds Range

Also heartening to Minnesota fans is the fact that center Ed Kalafatis, always a rugged defensive performer, has returned to good scoring form. He pitched in 17 points as Minnesota beat surprisingly tough Purdue 67-64 Saturday. The victory was led by Minnesota's scoring find, Dick Gar-maker, who hit for 22 points.

Minnesota's hopes probably will rest with Kalafatis tonight, and whether he will be able to hold down the scoring antics of Indiana's Don Schlundt, who is averaging nearly 30 points a game.

However, Big Ten was limited to 25 Saturday as the Hoosiers beat Michigan State 79-74 and guard Bob Leonard took up whatever slack there was by scoring 26 from the outside.

Iowa At Michigan

Iowa, which won a nonconference game from Missouri Saturday, 73-53, takes on Michigan at Ann Arbor. In other games, Purdue is at Illinois and Ohio State is at Northwestern.

Other Saturday results: Illinois 87 Michigan 68, and Wisconsin 79 Ohio State 73.

If the Gophers lose tonight, they'll have a chance to recoup a tie for second place, at least, when they play Iowa's young Hawkeyes next Saturday at Minneapolis. Other Big Ten games Saturday have Illinois at Wisconsin, Indiana at Northwestern, Michigan at Ohio State and Michigan State at Purdue.

Michigan State takes on Notre Dame in a nonconference game at East Lansing Tuesday.

Top Cage Quints Set Sights On NCAA Meet

By RIP WATSON
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball's world series, the annual NCAA Tournament, gets under way exactly one month from today—and it looks like a replay of last year's meet.

More than half a dozen of the teams that began the scramble last year are almost certain bets to qualify again next month, with Indiana's defending champions leading the way.

The Hoosiers, heading toward their second straight Big Ten title with a 7-0 conference mark, play host tonight to Minnesota, a team they whipped last month in Minneapolis. It's the last chance for Minnesota (6-1), although Indiana also must whip Iowa (6-1) on Feb. 22.

One-Two Punch

Bob Leonard and Don Schlundt, the Hoosiers' one-two punch, sparked Indiana to a 79-74 victory over Michigan State Saturday night. The team was ranked third in the Associated Press poll last week.

Notre Dame, which bowed to Indiana in the NCAA quarter-finals last year, won its 12th game against only two setbacks by turning back De Paul 59-53 Saturday. The Irish, ranked seventh nationally, appear certain to be named one of the "at large" teams east of the Mississippi River.

Seattle, just as certain a choice for one of the Western "at large" berths for the second successive year, now boasts the longest winning streak among major colleges. No. 22 was a 71-49 romp over Gonzaga. Seattle is ranked sixth.

Holy Cross 16-1

Tenth-ranked Holy Cross should gain an Eastern "at large" berth, if the Crusaders decide on the NCAA again instead of the National Invitation Tournament. With a 16-1 mark, they can choose their tournament.

Kansas, which lost the NCAA final to Indiana last year on Leonard's foul shot, is tied with Colorado for the Big Seven lead. Louisiana State, a semifinalist in '53, is tied with Kentucky for the Southeastern Conference lead.

Idaho State, beaten in the first round last year, could be the first team to clinch a berth in the 1954 tournament. A two-game sweep over Colorado State this week will assure Idaho State the team's second successive Rocky Mountain Conference title.

Fordham (14-2) and Oklahoma City (12-4) have the records to gain "at large" berths again.

Louisiana State probably faces the toughest task of all. Both the Bayou Tigers and Kentucky Wildcats should go through their SEC schedules without a loss, which would necessitate a playoff. Even if Kentucky wins, they won't be able to use All America Cliff Hagan, Frank Ramsey and Lou Tsioropoulos in the NCAA.

Kentucky Wins 100-68

Kentucky, No. 1 in the AP poll, walloped Georgia 100-68 Saturday for the team's 16th without defeat.

Duquesne, ranked just behind Kentucky with an 18-0 mark, was even more impressive. The Dukes not only whipped the Quantico Marines 81-68, but stopped Paul Arizin, Philadelphia Warriors star, with 12 points.

Kentucky, Duquesne and little Norwich (14-0) are the only unbeaten teams left now.

Two upsets jarred the top 10 as Eastern Kentucky whipped Western Kentucky, No. 4, 63-54, and George Washington topped Duke, No. 8, 76-71.

Oklahoma A&M, ranked fifth, was idle but ninth-ranked La Salle was busy winning a 100-83 scramble over Furman.

No Good Wishes Follow Bryant From Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Coach Paul Bryant, released by the University of Kentucky, may leave for Texas A & M today but without the customary thanks or good wishes from the school he raised to a national grid powerhouse.

A special session Sunday, directors of Kentucky's Athletics Assn. issued a curt, formal announcement:

"A motion was made that Coach Bryant's resignation be accepted. The motion was seconded and passed."

The absence of any expression of thanks for a well done job apparently reflected the resentment felt by Dr. H. L. Donovan, school president, and other members of the athletic family over Bryant's desire to quit.

In clearing the way for Bryant to join A & M as head coach and athletic director, Kentucky put itself in the market for a coach for the first time since 1945.

There have been about 15 applications since Bryant announced his resignation last Thursday but none has been identified by name. Unofficially, Bryant is believed to have recommended Clarence Underwood and Eral Allen for the post. Allen now works with the Kentucky backs and Underwood is line coach.

Bryant, who had nine years to go on his Kentucky contract, was drawing a reputed $15,000 to $17,000 a year, plus what he collected from radio and television programs.

At A & M he will be collecting $15,000 a year under a six-year contract, making him the highest paid coach in the school's history.

Large Tract Of Ford Land Bought By City

The City of Gladstone will purchase approximately 60 acres of the so-called Ford property at the east end of the city from the Delta Coal & Dock Co., for $36,000.00.

This agreement was reached Friday during negotiations between city officials and the owners at Chicago.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Michael LaPine, City Manager H. J. Henriksen and City Attorney Clyde J. McGonagle, representing the City of Gladstone, and A. J. Johnston and George Nolden, president of the Delta Coal and Dock Co., representing the property owners.

A price of $37,500.00 had been asked for the property. Believing that a better price could be had by again conferring with the owners.

The property being acquired includes all of Government Lot 3, part of Government Lot 2 east of the dock to the point, the platted Mason addition and the east 400 feet of the dock of the Delta Coal and Dock Co.

The City will pay cash for the property and the transfer will be made as soon as the proper papers are prepared.

King Size Smokes Cut Tax Revenue

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The growing popularity of king sized cigarettes is cutting into the tax receipts in Connecticut which collects two cents on each package, king sized or regular. Tax Commissioner William F. Connelly anticipates a $100,000 reduction in cigarette tax receipts for the current year. One of the reasons, he says, is that more smokers are buying king sized packages and getting more tobacco for their tax money.

Experiment Conducted At Cusino To Learn If Deer Repopulate

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer
Cusino (P)—The Conservation Department has started an experiment to see just how serious a matter it is when deer hunters concentrate too heavily in one area.

Heavy concentrations developed in the last two years more than at any time before.

In 1952, the whole north half of the Lower Peninsula was opened to shooting deer of any sex for the last three days of the season. Last fall, the Lower Peninsula north of highway M55 was opened to the same population thinning shooting for one day immediately following the regular season.

Biologists Scoff
On both occasions, hunters from the populous southern third of the state concentrated very heavily along the southern edges of the special shooting area.

There were bitter complaints that these concentrations had wiped the deer out of these areas entirely and that whole counties had been ruined for deer hunting for years to come.

The Conservation Department biologists doubted this. Field checks of tracks in the snow in the two winters following the special shoots proved there were some deer left.

Secondly, they believe that even if the deer were entirely wiped out, there are plenty of deer in neighboring areas which would quickly move in.

They went so far as to predict that by the following hunting season there would be plenty of deer to hunt no matter how hard the shooting had been the preceding year.

Area Made Barren

To check their theory, the department has set up the experiment station in the wild Upper Peninsula country east of Munising.

Station workers are trapping every single deer on one square mile of land.

The deer are being moved carefully to distant locations and released. Care is to be taken that no deer are left in the area at all.

Then with the square mile totally barren of deer, the experimenters are going to keep careful checks on how long it takes for deer to filter back in and exactly how many do so.

If the alarmists are right, the square mile will stay barren a long time.

If the department biologists are right, the square mile will be occupied with just as many deer as before in a very few months.

Thief Goes For Slips

OKLAHOMA CITY (P)—Police noticed a lady object hanging from beneath the coat of a 52-year-old man Friday and began tugging at it.

Out came a slip. They pulled again. Out came another. After nine pulls and nine slips they jailed the man for investigation of shoplifting.

"It was like pulling tissue paper from a box," officers said later.

S'NO(W) FUN—Making this cow comfortable is a difficult task for the citizens of Blons, in Austria's Walserthal "Death Valley," so named because of its recent disastrous avalanches. The cow was buried in a snow avalanche, and hay is packed around the animal to keep her warm until help arrives to pull her out.

VD RATE SURPRISING

Little Rock, Ark. (P)—Arkansas' new marriage law—which requires a pre-marital blood test—is turning up venereal disease at a rate that surprises even the head of the state's VD control program.

Dr. Clifford Cole reports that 66 per cent of those tested are diseased. A 1 per cent positive reaction rate is "high" and 1½ per cent is "very high," Cole says.

Boy Who Thought He Was An Orphan Worth $6,800,000

NEW YORK (P)—An 11-year-old boy who since infancy had regarded himself as an orphan now has these staggering new facts to consider:

1. He has just inherited $6,800,000, less taxes.
2. His mother was the victim of one of the most sensational slayings in New York history.
3. His father is not dead, but imprisoned for the crime.

Strangling Confessed

The boy on whom these overwhelming discoveries fell Friday is William Anthony Burton. Before his name was legally changed in 1947 he was Wayne William Loneragan.

His father is Wayne Loneragan, a cafe society figure who was convicted of killing his wife in their swanky Beckman Hill apartment in 1943. Mrs. Loneragan, a wealthy socialite who was then only 22 years old, was bludgeoned and strangled.

Loneragan subsequently confessed the crime and was convicted of second degree murder. He will not be eligible for parole until 1967.

The event that led to the disclosures was the death of the boy's great-grandmother, Mrs. Stella S. Housman, who died at Palm Beach, Fla., on Jan. 25. Her will was filed for probate in New York Surrogate's Court.

Mrs. Housman actually willed only $5,000 to the boy, noting that he was "otherwise well provided for."

However, the will of her first husband, wealthy New York brewer Max Bernheimer, had stipulated that upon her death his estate should revert to a lineal descendant.

Under this provision the huge fortune automatically went to the boy.
